Week of August 27 - August 31, 2018

Last Week At-a-Glance ...

I hope everyone had relaxing weekend. Our first full week of kindergarten went smoothly, considering all the new procedures, class rules, and kindergarten expectations we had to learn. We have set up our table spots, practiced our schedule, and met all essential support personnel with a "Brown Bear" scavenger hunt. The students also colored an "essential personnel" activity which should have come home in your child's daily folder. This can be utilized to familiarize yourself with the team of educational professionals who will be working with your child throughout the year.

We completed a number review in math; the students are looking good on previous number knowledge! We created "Kindergarten Backpacks" in writing, began work on the alphabet, and read many back to school themed books.

Last week, Ms. Krol, our principal, also surprised us and read "The Principal from The Black Lagoon". The kids absolutely loved it. Other mystery guests who read to us "new school year" theme stories included Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Winland, and Miriam, who is Simon's older sister. It was a great week and we are set up for an excellent year!

Reminder about Daily Folders

Daily communication is important between parents and their child about the day's events. Communication between parents and the teacher is also very important. I'll keep parents informed through many methods including this newsletter, Twitter, Class Dojo, etc. However, it is extremely important that you check your child's daily folder every night. This folder will contain notes from school, PTA and myself; your student's daily life skills chart, etc. When I receive the folder back the next day containing a parent signature, I know that you've received the info you need.

... In the spotlight:

Our student spotlight of the week this first week is my entire class! I am proud of how quickly they have learned the new kindergarten procedures and routines. I am excited to have such an awesome group of kids in my class!

Upcoming Events:

Friday, August 24th – HVE T-shirt Spirit Day- wear your favorite HVE logowear with pride.
