Week of September 3 – September 7, 2018

At-a-Glance ...

I hope everyone had a relaxing and enjoyable long weekend as we took time to celebrate our nation's yearly tribute to the contributions workers have made to the strength, prosperity, and well-being of our country.

Last week we learned all about the letter "M;" we did shave cream math with numbers 1 through 10; and we practiced our first names with Play-Doh, chalk and dry erase. In science we learned about science lab safety and tools. Our social studies lessons last week covered the importance of following rules in the community. On Friday, we rewarded our hard work and good behavior with a popsicle party!

This week we will be working on the letter "B," science lab procedures, parts of a book/story, and how rules provide order, security and safety in our home, school and community.

All About Me Project ...

Our first homework assignment will be coming home this week to complement our very special "All about Me" unit. Please complete the "I'm an Awesome Kindergartener" sheet and return it in your student's folder for them to share with the class. In addition, an "All about Me" bag activity is coming home. On one side of the bag your student will draw and color a self-portrait silhouette. Students will then fill the bag with three special items of importance to them. This project will help our class continue to get to know each other better. It will be due back to class next Monday, Sept. 10, but your student may bring it in early should they so choose. The instructions and bag will be provided. Any questions, please refer to the "hot topics" section of our classroom website or contact me.

Reminder about Daily Folders

It is extremely important that you check your child's daily folder every night. This folder contains notes of importance from school, PTA and myself; your student's daily life skills chart, etc. When I receive the folder back the next day containing a parent signature, I know that you've received the info you need. Please keep the items that are sent home in the right side of the folder.
